Equality Summary

A new Equality Act began in 2010. This replaced:

• Disability Discrimination Act
• Race Relations Act
• Sex Discrimination Act

The new act gave schools a public sector equality duty (PSED) to advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not. There are 8 protected characteristics: race, gender, religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, pregnancy and age.

The Equality Act demands, that from September 2012, schools and LAs have a duty to supply auxiliary aids and services, for disabled students, as reasonable adjustments, where they are not being supplied through SEN Education Health and Care Plans or Statements or from other sources.

What can be classified as a disability?

There is no exhaustive list of conditions that qualify as a disability as the focus is on the effect the impairment has. While some impairments, particularly visible ones, are easy to identify, there are many which are not so immediately obvious. Conditions that can qualify are:

- Autistic Spectrum Conditions
- Dyslexia
- Dyspraxia
- Asthma
- ADHD
- Learning Difficulties
- Mental health conditions including OCD, depression, eating disorders, personality disorders and some self-harming. What is a reasonable adjustment?

Where something a school does places a disabled pupil at a disadvantage compared to other pupils then the school must take reasonable steps to try and avoid that disadvantage.

…this will particularly be the case where a disabled child does not have an SEN statement or where the statement does not provide the auxiliary aid or service.

At Raddlebarn Primary School, we work very hard to ensure that we fulfil our Public Sector Equality Duty and advance the equality of opportunity of our students.
